Update for 2010: Race for the Roses listened to your feedback and has a new and improved design for the last mile of the course to benefit both runners and walkers. If you are participating as a walker, race officials will help guide you through Waterfront Park for the last mile of the course, crossing the Steel Bridge on the lower, pedestrian path. There will be course monitors stationed along this portion of the course as well as signage to direct you. You will have a separate water station, a much better view of the Willamette River and cross the same finish line at the Convention Center!
